“We are a non-profit, member-based association operating six independent Internet Exchanges around the world: in the Netherlands, Caribbean, the United States, Hong Kong and India. With our innovative platforms, cutting-edge technology and dedicated engineers, we deliver high quality interconnection services to a wide range of businesses worldwide. These include internet service providers, mobile operators, content providers, hosting and cloud providers, TV broadcasters, gaming companies and financial enterprises. Together, we form a strong ecosystem allowing internet end-users to enjoy fast, stable, and cost-effective online experiences.

Hill Consulting and Libeccio have supported the Board of the Association in finding and onboarding a new CEO for the AMS-IX organization. Furthermore, they coach us and the CEO in developing good collaboration.

“I would recommend Hill Consulting and Libeccio without any hesitation for executive search of middle and senior managers in IT and high tech companies and for coaching management teams.”

We chose Hill Consulting and Libeccio because of the good experiences we have had in filling positions in the past. We particularly appreciate their personal approach: active and engaged to get to know the organization and the people involved very well. Based on a thorough understanding of the context they are able to find good candidates and to provide good support in onboarding and coaching.”
